

To Whom it May Concern:

I would like to let my concern be known regarding the issue of Low Power FM radio stations. I live in a rural town in Idaho. The only radio station that I listen to is 98.7 FM KARO, better known as Air 1. Air 1 broadcasts songs with positive lyrics that just make you smile and want to be happy. Air 1 encourages me throughout the day. If this LPFM issue is passed, I would not be able to listen to Air 1 any more. Even if they were able to keep broadcasting in Idaho, I would not be able to listen for the lack of reception. The lack of reception would be due to the station being broadcasted in LPFM. I would like to petition the FCC to abandon this idea or at least let voters decide whether or not to pass it. Air 1 has saved people from committing suicide with the songs they play and the phone number they can call. It provides uplifting music that promotes productivity and happy living from day to day. Please do not take this away from people such as me here in Idaho or anywhere else in the U.S.A.

Sincerely,

Matthew Morris
